Outdoor living has become a way of living rather than a trend. Styling up and furnishing our outdoor spaces to make them as inviting and experiential as possible has accelerated over the last two years. It's all about materials that are natural, artisan, and practical at the same time.

Create an outdoor living room

The focus on replicating our interior spaces outdoors is more popular than ever. Mirrors, cushions, throws, and outdoor rugs have become the norm in our outside spaces. Layering garden furniture with ceramics, linens, cotton, metallics and glassware creates another space with a homely feeling.

Dividing and Zoning

A great way to utilise garden space, however small or large, is dedicating certain areas for specific activities. Aesthetic screening is a great way to create defined spaces whilst still keeping an open feel, ensuring not to waste that vital ground space. A seated or chill-out area can be sectioned off from a busy decked area used for entertaining and dining.

Living Walls

Living walls are a high design trend of the past in the garden and have become one of the most popular tricks to enhance a garden space. Planting vertically over wood panels with hanging plant pots of creepers will elevate even the trickiest of garden spaces.
