

Supersized Chandeliers

Nothing makes a statement like a generously proportioned chandelier, and the new AW21 designs from där lighting are designed to do just that. Lead designer, Peter Legg comments:

‘Sumptuously sized chandeliers are a classic focal point, and stairwells often have extra headroom, making them the perfect spot to place some statement lighting. A bevelled crystal piece lends itself to period properties with deep proportions, while those looking for a modern interpretation should consider designs with thick glass rods and aged brass frames, as this will give an on-trend industrial twist.’

The cascading waterfall of almost 1.5 metres of bevelled crystal flows freely from the slender profile of the Angel 28 Light Chandelier. A design that makes a tremendous statement and all heads turn.

Another bevelled beauty, the Rhapsody 12 Light Chandelier dazzles with eight stepped layers of crystal and a warm bronze frame, combining luxury materials with extravagant expanse. The height of this chandelier can be adjusted from just under a metre to nearly 4 metres, making this a great choice for lower height spaces.

A combination of an aged brass frame with thick glass rods gives the glamorous Eleanor 15 Light Chandelier an industrial edge. The grand proportions of this fitting are matched by a large four light wall bracket, perfect for continuing the scheme up a staircase or across rooms.
