User Guide

Stated!

Stated! is a brand new social media platform that allows users to create and share their favourite quotes using imagery, filters and typefaces of their choice.

The app is the first in its field to operate as a fully-fledged social platform - creating a fun and easy way to discover and share quotes that mean something to its users.

It features user profiles, hashtags, trending topics, location tagging and one-click integration with major social platforms including Facebook, LinkedIn, Twitter and Instagram.

About our founders

The Stated! team is led by our two co-founders Ryan Prentice and David Brownlie. David, who has worked for some of the UK's largest design agencies, is a graphic designer with a passion for creating beautiful, simple and intuitive user experiences. He takes responsibility for our brand, user interface design and all other elements of our creative output.

Ryan has headed up marketing outsourcing firm Brinn Marketing since 2010 and is a digital marketing expert with experience in managing large teams of designers, marketers and developers. He takes responsibility for all things technical and marketing – working with our talented team to spread the word and keep the user experience seamless and bug free!
